Please allow me to offer my very positive opinion of and support of Jeff Robbins and Rhonda Coy and their new firm, Robbins Development Partners, Inc.

They are both very good people to work both for and with. They are professional in all regards, so much so to be standard setting in my experience. They are always fully informed, centered, skilled, and fully engaged in both the project at hand and the process of the moment. And this includes multiple projects at one time.

They are courteous, able to communicate and position their expectations very effectively, professional in all regards, and reflect well on everyone who is associated with them and their work. Additionally, and probably most important, they are simply good people, doing things properly with a positive goal in sight.

Jeff and Rhonda will succeed in the development industry in the short term and position themselves for even larger success when we round the corner on our short to intermediate term industry issues. The tragic and unfortunate circumstances that placed them where they are today simply put them in position to succeed beyond what would have been possible otherwise.

If you have any particular questions please contact me by cell or e-mail as listed below. I would be most happy to share or expand on my experience or opinion as you wish.

Thank you in advance.
